

Shaunti Feldhahn is a nationally syndicated newspaper columnist, public speaker, and a best-selling author of For Women Only. Shaunti holds a masters degree in public policy from Harvard University, and worked on Wall Street and Capitol Hill before becoming a surprise bestselling non-fiction author in 1998. This wife of attorney and co-author Jeff Feldhahn and mother of two, now applies her analytical skills to illuminating those important, surprising truths that people really need to understand about each other. Her books for adults include For Women Only For Men Only and For Parents Only and for teens - For Young Women Only, and For Young Men Only. Each book is based on a nationwide survey and more than 1,000 personal interviews. The result: candid expressions of the difficult-to-communicate-but-true inner feelings and thoughts of the men, women and teens surveyed. What makes Shaunti's books and speaking events so successful is her ability to communicate so clearly what she learned from the survey about the inner longings, the reasons behind the exasperating words, and what your spouse or teen would tell you if only they could trust you to truly listen ... what they say will surprise you! Shaunti's newest book in the works is for women in the workplace, Hidden in Plain Sight: What Men in the Workplace Are Thinking But Will Never Tell You, to be released January 2010. This book is a startling exploration of what men privately think in the workplace but rarely share; perceptions that often fundamentally affect their female colleagues. Shaunti is now speaking to corporate groups and sharing this new research, so that women in the workplace can avoid unintentional self-sabotage and be particularly effective and influential with male bosses, colleagues, clients or subordinates.
